How to Reach Our Nurseries

THE WESTON NURSERIES are located in the southern part of the town of Weston on Route 30 (four miles from Newton; eight miles from Brookline). Route 30 is the Boston to Framingham route over Commonwealth Avenue. The Main Nurseries are at 85 Winter Street which is the first public road on your left after crossing Wellesley Street.

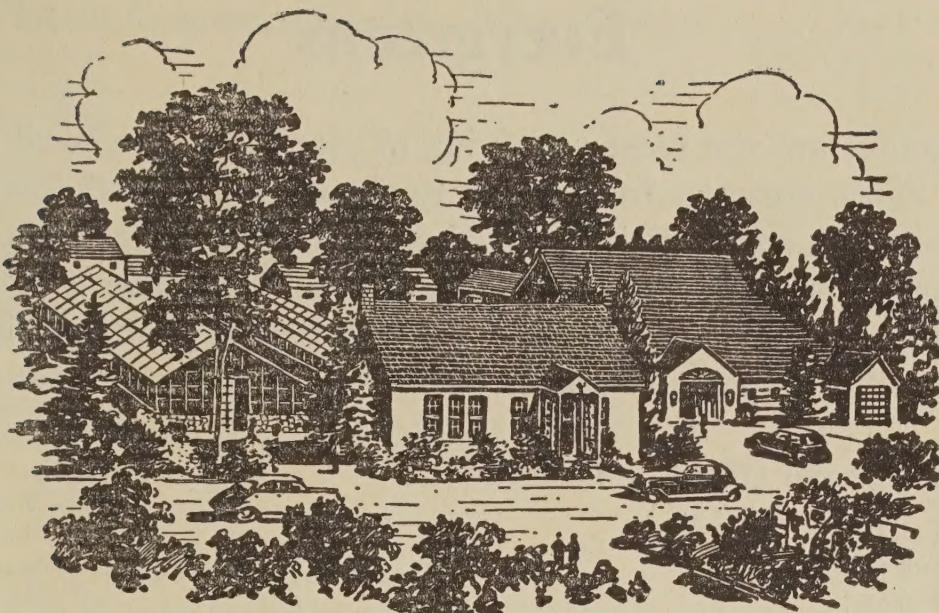

From the Boston-Worcester Turnpike take the Weston Road at Wellesley for $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles and turn left on Brown Street at the new aqueduct.

IN the minds of some people a nursery in war time would seem to be classified as a non-essential industry. But imagine what your home would be without its setting of shade trees, shrubs, lawns, hedges and gardens.

It takes only a few months to build, furnish and occupy a house. It may be the most desirable and livable house one can ask for and yet cannot be called a home without this setting.

In contrast to the short time required to build a home, the planting which it requires has been in the process of development from five to twenty-five or more years. Through boom times, depressions and wars, the nurseryman is so closely associated with Nature that he hangs on, desperately at times, looking toward the future when his small seedlings will blossom to help some one, unknown through all the intervening years, enjoy the pleasures of his efforts.

These are difficult times for the nurseryman. An amateur gardener fails to care properly for his plants and in a few months his garden may be stricken with the drought, overgrown with weeds, or infested with insects, and if neglected for a longer period of time, the plants may either die or become of no value through disease or overgrowth. A nurseryman has the same conditions with which to contend, but on a much larger scale. Negligence or inability on his part during these times will not only deprive him of a future income; it will have its effect on the homes, parks and highways of the approaching post-war years, which we all believe will be beautiful and livable.

We at Weston Nurseries have gone all-out with food production, growing many acres of vegetables during this war period. Though harvesting a crop in one short season has been a new experience to us, we are proud of the success we have made in this venture, which we shall continue until the end of a food shortage is apparent. In the meantime, we believe that beautiful trees, shrubs and flowers are a symbol of America and our untiring efforts are devoted to that end — to make America more beautiful and fruitful.

Evergreens

Evergreens are the most satisfying of plants and we have all the good, hardy varieties from which to choose. Our plants have been transplanted, sprayed and pruned several times to insure a vigorous root system and a full, compact top. You have a choice of texture, color and shape, for formal or informal plantings, hedges, windbreaks or specimen plants.

EVERGREEN GROUND COVERS

Ground covers are particularly adapted to transform that bank, slope or shady place into a beautiful carpet of green. In your paved terrace you may walk on clumps of Thyme and breathe in the fragrance of their crushed leaves.

Bearberry, Ivy, Pachysandra or Vinca will grow beautifully in that shady location where nothing else will do. For natural planting, the Christmas Fern, Polypody, Partridge-berry or Wintergreen, and Leatherwood Fern are all evergreen, to grow in the glade, near rocks or over boulders. Along with the aforementioned, Euonymus colorata, and many others are planted underneath to cover over the bare soil and relieve the necessity of cultivation.

Broad-Leaved Evergreen Shrubs

This group contains many varieties native to our East Coast. In addition, there are varieties which have been introduced from many other parts of the world. For most of these plants an acid soil is required. This should be prepared with peat moss, leaf-mold or humus for the most successful growth and flowering of the plants.

Flowering Crabapples

The Flowering Crabapple is particularly handsome. The dainty pastel shading of the airy flowers, the brilliant coloring of the fruits, the intimate branching habits, all serve to set them apart as worthy of a place in almost every planting. The fruits of many colors and sizes last far into the winter — many make fine jellies — many provide food for the birds.

WESTON NURSERIES has recently acquired some 400 acres of farm and wood land in Hopkinton, Massachusetts, which will be planted to farm crops for the duration of the war, or as long as a food shortage may exist. After that time it will be planted to choice nursery stock, with a section set aside for an arboretum later on. This property has aroused much enthusiasm in our organization, and we think our customers will be interested in knowing something about it, too.

The property consists mainly of four adjoining farms, the oldest farms of Hopkinton, with historical backgrounds, namely: The Tebeau Farm, the Phipps Farm, the Bixby Farm and the Bigelow Farm.

On the Tebeau Farm, which was originally the Town Farm of Hopkinton, there is a large farmhouse, several barns, a blacksmith shop with large hand bellows, an old schoolhouse, and even a two-celled jail with handmade iron doors and bars in front of the small windows. In recent years this farm has been known as "The Lucky

R

OSE OF SHARON or ALTHEA (Hibiscus syriacus)

A beacon of beauty from July to frost.

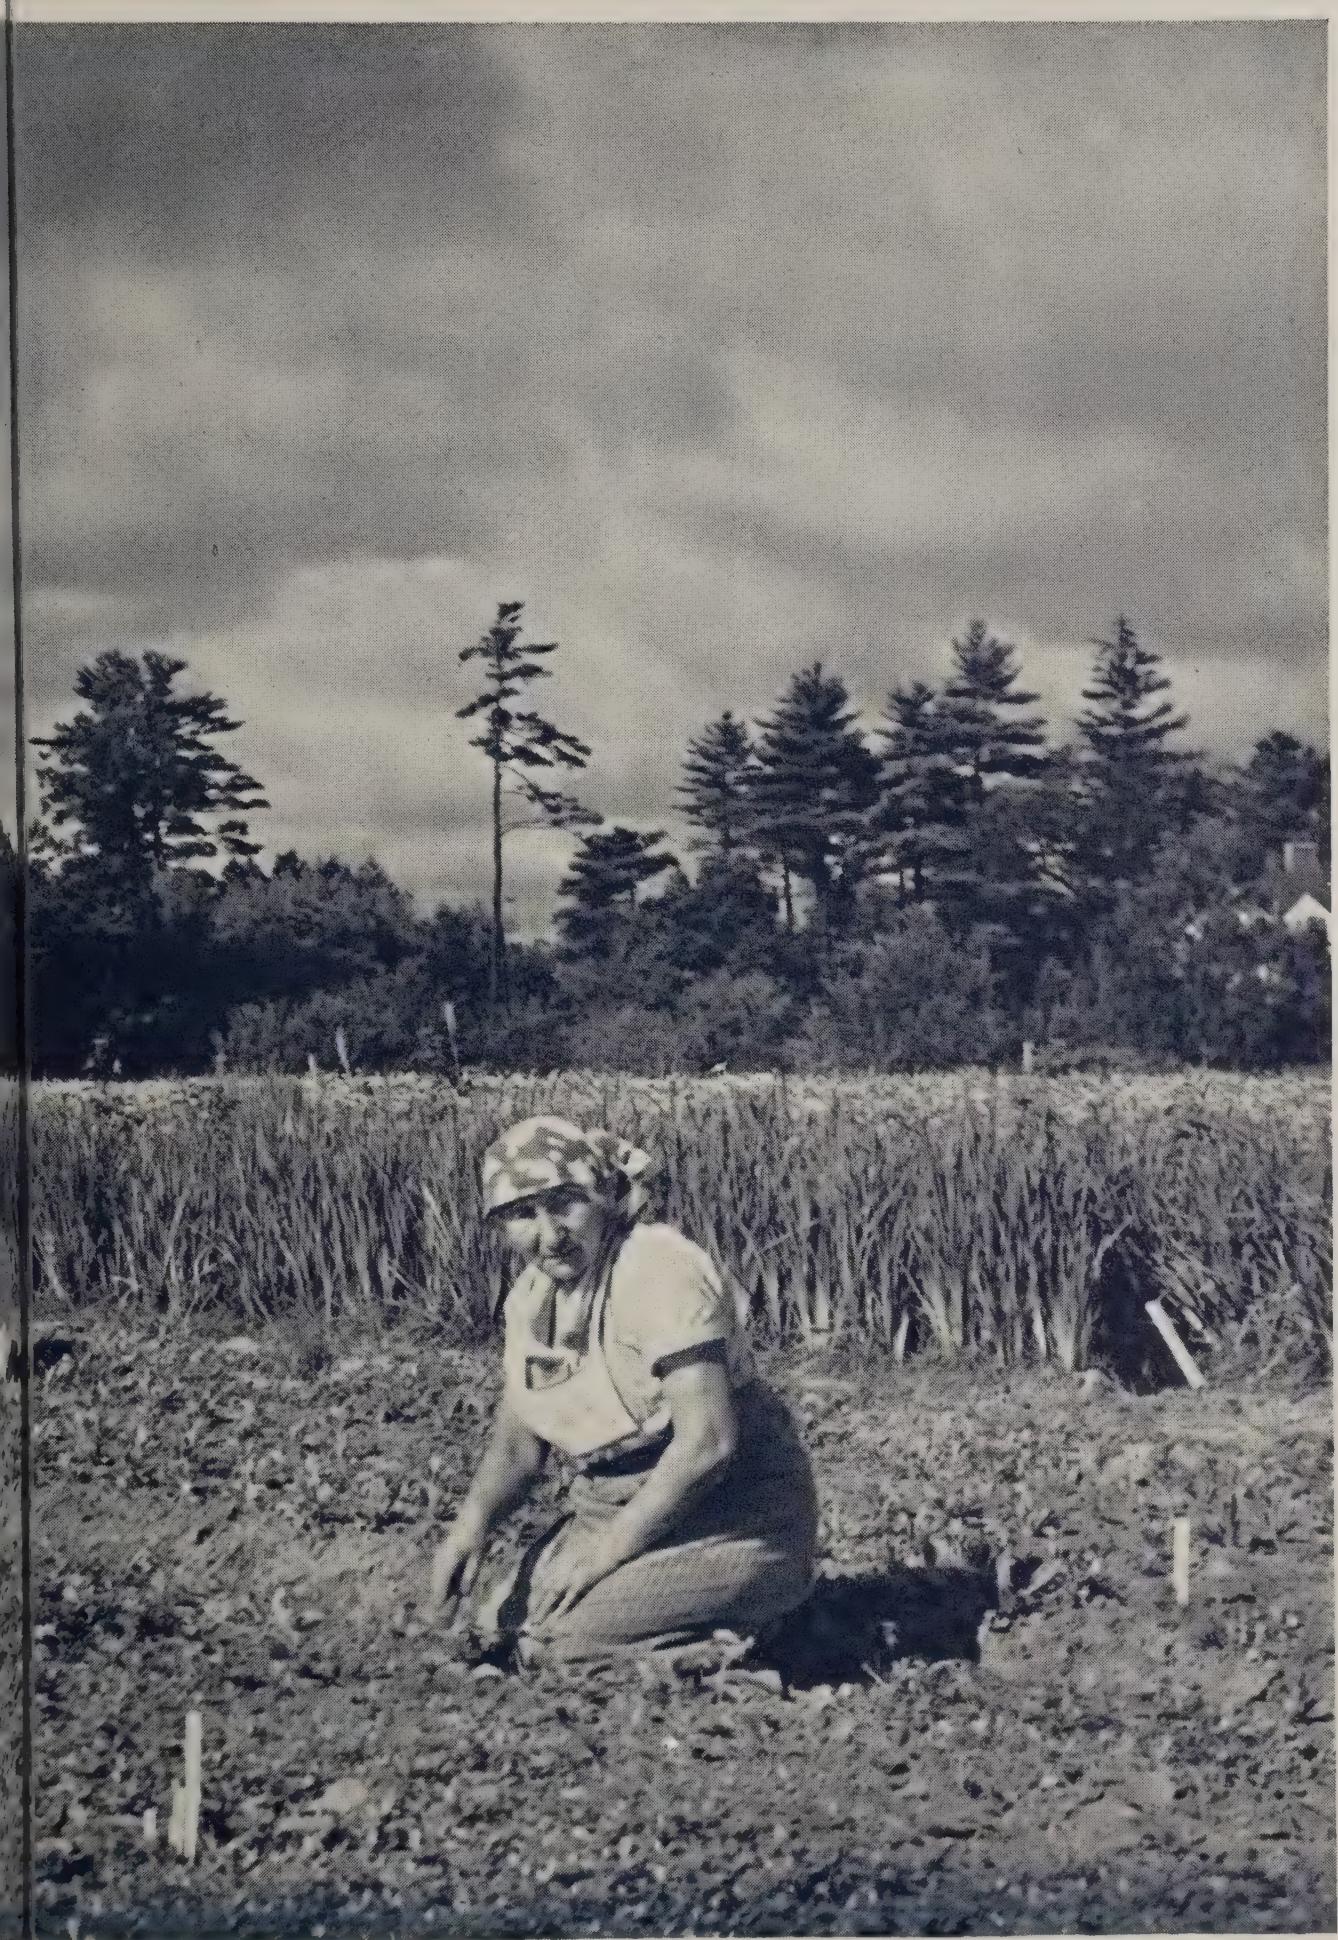

The agile fingers of one of our land army girls help make possible the production of quality trellis tomatoes.

Hiding behind rich green foliage, the perfectly formed fruit of the tomato, Comet No. 22, will soon be ready for market.

WESTON NURSERIES' Perennial

Department IN WAR TIME

A well-grown field of potatoes in settings such as this is a twofold pleasure. Myriads of white, yellow-centered blossoms dot the shiny dark green foliage, giving the earth a carpet of luxuriant beauty, while beneath the vines one of man's most vital foods is slowly being formed.

Weston Nurseries has gone the limit in food production. Every idle space in the nursery itself, and practically all the land available from friendly and patriotic neighbors, is being put to work with a vengeance.

Y

YEARS HENCE we may wonder how it was possible to have accomplished all this with the extreme shortage of manpower. Let us thank the college girls who gave up their summer vacations to join the women's land army. How they must have silently "blessed" the persistence of the weed!

Although potatoes are our major crop, we devote considerable acreage to the growing of sweet corn, carrots, beans and tomatoes.

J

N TIMES LIKE THESE, a nurseryman is tempted to pause and ask himself why he chose to grow shrubs and trees as his life's work. For between the time he plants the tiny seeds in the soil, or inserts cuttings in the sand, a period of from five to twelve years elapses before his product is ready to be delivered to a customer and a profit realized. On the other hand, a crop of snap-beans like the above, grown at Weston Nurseries in 1944, is planted, grown to maturity, harvested and sold within a period of that many weeks.

In 1944, our total area in vegetable crops was 45 acres, and all were profitably marketed.

We were pleased to receive several first prizes on vegetables which we exhibited at the fall Harvest Shows in our neighboring towns.

Rock Manor." The Boston Athletic Association, for many years, has used the farmhouse for assembling and examining the competitors of the April 19th marathon, and at the "Lucky Rock," near the house, the signal has been fired for the traditional 26-mile race from Hopkinton to Boston.

Of the other three old farms, which had been prosperous in their days, little remains but the cellar holes of the large barns and houses, elaborately built stone walls, local granite slabs well-trod, old apple trees and groups of lilacs. We understand the Bixby family abandoned their farm sixteen years ago in the wake of an approaching woods fire which burned over a large part of that section of the town and leveled the buildings to the ground. Sections of the woods escaped the fire and many old trees are still flourishing there as landmarks. On the burned-over areas new vegetation has sprung up and is growing with much vigor. In olden days this area was proud of its great chestnut trees, many ghostly skeletons of which are still standing, stretched above the other vegetation.

The wooded hillsides are abundant with flowering dogwoods, some laurel, wild flowers, and Christmas ferns. The soil is deep and rich, and moist even in the dry seasons. A few rippling brooks wind beautifully down from the hills, through the mossy rocks, over fallen logs, between masses of maidenhair ferns and wild flowers.

These wooded areas served a very practical purpose during the past winter months. We were able to supply many cords of wood for stoves and fireplaces, which, we are sure, must have helped the fuel situation a great deal during the shortage of coal and oil.

After the war is won and our Weston Nurseries' boys are back from the fields of battle, we will develop the Hopkinton property into a modern nursery with fields of the finest plants we can grow. There our discriminate customers will be able to select the best in shrubs and trees for their own home grounds. There, too, where the land is rocky and not suited for cultivation, we will set out specimen plants from all parts of the world to develop naturally in their own beauty. In this so-called arboretum our customers may see fully grown specimens of the shrubs and trees which they have selected from the nursery rows.

Hybrid Lilacs

Our vast collection of named varieties of Hybrid Lilacs is exceeded only in number by the Arnold Arboretum. Most of our plants are on their own roots and are furnished to the ground, suitable for specimen planting or in hedges. Pay a visit to our lilac fields when the plants are in flower. From a hillside you may look down over this sea of color. Choose your color and tag the plant for later delivery if you wish.
